AgriNomix Expands

Chris Beytes

If business expansion is a sign of an industry's strength, then it's good news that AgriNomix, the Oberlin, Ohio-based distributor of horticulture automation and equipment, has broken ground on a 15,000 sq. ft. expansion that will take the company to 70,000 sq. ft. of manufacturing and warehouse space. They also expect to increase their workforce.

Founded 21 years ago in Oberlin, AgriNomix is the exclusive U.S. and Canadian distributor for many of Europe's top automation companies, including Flier Systems, Demaitere, Lanz Technic, Martin Stolze, Urbinati and Van Zaal.

The project should be completed by November. GT
