Ecke's Graphical Tracking Tool Back Online

Chris Beytes

If you've used the handy poinsettia graphical tracking program Ecke OnTarget in the past and were counting on it for your 2015 poinsettia crop, rest easy: Dümmer Orange has announced that the program is up and running in perfect order after moving the server hosting from California to their offices in Ohio.

Go to www.ecke.com and look for the "On Target" menu. There you'll find all of your saved data from previous crops. New users can sign up to take advantage of the technology. GT
