A Conversation With Dan Hinkley, Plant Explorer

Matthew Chappell

If you consider yourself a plant geek, you've probably heard the name Dan Hinkley. Dan has (for decades) been a leader in plant exploration, introducing many novel species and cultivars to the market. So it's a wonderful occasion when we have an opportunity to learn from Dan, as we have the opportunity to do in one of the latest Monrovia webinars.

This on-demand webinar highlights varieties discovered by Dan, an award-winning plant hunter with an exclusive collection grown by Monrovia. His stories of discovery offer insights into the importance of incorporating unique and beautiful plant species into our gardens. You'll learn how these plants are brought to market, tips for choosing a statement plant and design techniques worthy of an MVP. GT
