AmericanHort Invites You to Talk to Sage

Jeb Fields

AmericanHort has announced Sage, their new AI-powered assistant designed to help you navigate AmericanHort's extensive library of resources.

AI is a powerful tool that helps many people complete tasks and increase their productivity. We talk with growers, landscapers, university workers and many more who regularly use tools like ChatGPT and other AI platforms to answer questions, and help with writing emails and other memos. Unlike these other tools, Sage uses resources hosted by AmericanHort to develop answers, and may help provide more accurate and relevant information.

To try Sage, go to americanhort.org/about-us/sage. GT
