AAS and NGB Elect New Officers and Directors

Jennifer Zurko

At recent meetings during the ASTA Flower and Vegetable Seed Conference in Orlando, Florida, All-America Selections (AAS) and National Garden Bureau (NGB) elected new officers and directors.

AAS welcomes Jim Devereux from Green Fuse Botanicals as the new AAS President and Scott Rusch from PanAmerican Seed as the new AAS Vice President. Both bring a new set of skills and goals to our organization including, but not limited to, an in-depth perspective into vegetatively propagated ornamentals and strategic planning.

AAS also welcomes newly elected Director Alicain Carlson from Syngenta Flowers and NGB welcomes newly elected Director Marissa Verdi from Harris Seeds/Garden Trends. GT
