AmericanHort Formalizes Partnership with Leading Consulting Firm

Jennifer Zurko

AmericanHort announced an expanded service agreement with K·Coe Isom, LLP, a food and agriculture consulting and accounting firm.

“We’ve partnered with K·Coe Isom for years, in a more informal relationship and focused primarily around tax issues. We look forward to offering our members access to their in-depth expertise in a variety of advisory disciplines,” said Ken Fisher, President & CEO of AmericanHort.

“K·Coe has identified a team of their expert consultants to be available to AmericanHort premium members who can call the firm and receive an initial consultation by phone,” explains Tal Coley, Director of Government Affairs. “This access enables premium members to exchange questions or ideas, as well as receive initial consultation regarding issues or concerns at no additional cost.”

Any follow-on work would become a project between the association member and K·Coe Isom at a negotiated fee. There are several areas of expertise that AmericanHort members might find beneficial in consulting with the designated K·Coe Isom team:
