CAST '23 Dates Set

Chris Beytes

Mark your calendars for Wednesday, March 29 to Sunday, April 2 because you don't want to miss the next edition of the California Spring Trials. These dates give plenty of space between the event and Easter (April 9).

We got these dates from Anne Leventry, president of PanAmerican Seed, one of the longest-running participants in the event. Anne said that attendance for 2022 was "good—almost 800!"—but she added, "We still were missing a good number of international people." That, of course, was primarily due to lingering COVID-related travel restrictions and concerns.

As a reminder, if you missed CAST 2022 and want to catch up on all the new stuff, go to californiatrials.com and our YouTube channel to read and watch all our extensive coverage. You can also catch it starting in the July issue of GrowerTalks and Green Profit. GT
